

Media Advisory:
Corruption Perceptions Index to be published on January 30th, 2024

Transparency International will release its 29th annual Corruption Perceptions Index on Tuesday, January 30th, 2024, at 1:01 AM EST

January 22, 2024

The Corruption Perceptions Index (CPI) is the leading global indicator of public sector corruption, providing an annual comparative snapshot of 180 countries and territories. The index for 2023 is calculated using data from 13 external sources.

Watch the CPI explainer video

The CPI for 2023 will assess how countries, including the United States, have responded to corruption over time, reviewing progress and failures over the last decade and beyond.

This year, the analysis will highlight the way in which weakening justice systems contribute to a lack of accountability for public officials, thereby allowing corruption to thrive.

Corruption Perceptions Index for 2023

January 30th, 2024

1:01 AM EST

Published online at www.transparency.org/cpi/

Embargoed materials will be available on Tuesday, 23 January. To request interviews or press materials under embargo until publication, please email media-us@transparency.org.